Senate—Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats, meeting in caucus Tuesday, voted disapproval of President Nixon's mining North Vietnamese waters.

As announced by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, the caucus, by a 29-14 vote, went on record "as disapproving the escalation of the war in Vietnam as announced by the President May 8."

The proposal was offered by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who said the words "no confidence" were considered, but "they thought that sounded too British."

The three-hour caucus decided also by unanimous 44-0 vote to proceed with the pending end-the-war proposal and to seek a Senate vote as soon as possible.

On a 35-8 vote, the Democrats voted support for a modification of the fund cutoff for Indochina military operations to make it effective four months after agreement on release of prisoners of war by North Vietnam.

The caucus actions of the Senate Democrats represent party position only. It was not said if, for example, the Fulbright disapproval resolution would be put to a Senate vote.

Mansfield said the caucus language modifying Case-Church "fits in with what the President said last night," that is his offer of total withdrawal four months after a cease-fire and release of prisoners.

Guerrilla Hijacking

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli paratroops disguised as mechanics burst into a hijacked Belgian jetliner with blazing guns Tuesday, killed two Arab guerrillas and rescued 97 hostages.

Two women hijackers were captured when 18 combat troops took over the plane after 21 hours of drama at Tel Aviv International Airport.

One of the women was brought out of the plane covered in blood and taken to a hospital for transfusions and emergency surgery. Two soldiers and six passengers were wounded in the assault.

"If other countries acted the way we did, hijackings would stop," said Israel's top military man, Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. David Elazar.

The guerrillas had threatened to blow up the plane and all aboard unless Israel released Arab prisoners.

Passengers said the hijackers took control of the Sabena Boeing 707 jet over Zagreb, Yugoslavia, on Monday after a stop in Vienna, Austria, on a flight from Brussels to Tel Aviv.

East-West Treaties

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt reached a compromise with opposition leaders Tuesday for passage of his East-West treaties, but the deal fell through hours later in the face of a negative Soviet reaction.

Rainer Barzel, leader of the opposition Christian Democrats, said his party would oppose the treaties if they came to a parliamentary vote Wednesday as had been planned. A spokesman for Brandt's regime acknowledged "difficulties caused by the Soviet reply."

The Soviet apparently were cool to a Brandt-Barzel deal treating from the view of the pact as "a legal basis" for the existing borders of divided Germany until they can be permanently fixed in a World War II peace treaty yet to be negotiated.

Barzel's announcement made an early end unlikely to the 12-day war of nerves in Bonn's deadlocked legislature.

The opposition chief said his party still basically supports the compromise reached with

Gravel—Blockade

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was advised in 1969 it would be next to impossible to shut off completely air, rail and sea supply routes to North Vietnam, secret papers disclose.

That is the message of excerpts from the secret "Kissinger" papers read into the Congressional Record Tuesday by Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska.

The papers, prepared for the National Security Council and the President, told Nixon that "in practical terms it could be impossible to deny all imports by sea."

The papers were prepared by Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's principal foreign-affairs adviser, from separate assessments made by the Defense Department, Central Intelligence Agency and the State Department.

The document said that even if the principal port of Haiphong and the two secondary ports of Campha and Hon Gai were closed, "there would still be 12 minor points as well as numerous coastal transshipment points suitable for over-the-beach off-loading."

The report said these sea-ports could not handle anything like the import volume now going to Haiphong.

But it said most shipments to that port consist of economic aid and that the bulk of military supplies were believed to come overland through China.

The report estimated that it would take a minimum of 6,000 air raids a month to knock out and keep from operation the two rail lines in China.

U.S. Planes Blast Enemy

Carry Out Record Strikes

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. aircraft and warships struck in North and South Vietnam with the heaviest force in years Tuesday after mining ports in North Vietnam.

A Hanoi broadcast said two U.S. destroyers were set afire by coastal artillery while they shelled the port of Haiphong. There was no confirmation of this from the U.S. Command in Saigon.

President Nguyen Van Thieu went on national radio and television to voice appreciation for President Nixon's decision to try to cut off North Vietnam's war supplies. He predicted South Vietnamese forces soon would win back territory lost in the enemy offensive that began March 30.

Hundreds of U.S. warplanes and a naval task force struck anew at North Vietnam after the mining aimed at strangling its supply lifelines.

A similar campaign was under way in South Vietnam. U.S. warplanes, destroyers and South Vietnamese artillery guns unleashed thousands of bombs and shells across a wide swath of North Vietnamese-held territory on both sides of Highway 1 above the threatened city of Hue in an 18-hour saturation bombardment from the land, air and sea.

Informants said U.S. planes were launching 700 to 800 strikes a day over wide areas of Indochina, including North and South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, with the bulk of the strikes in South Vietnam.

Despite the awesomeness of the massed American firepower, there was no immediate indication that either the mining of North Vietnamese ports and continued bombardment of highways, rail lines and bridges would succeed in stopping the 24-day enemy offensive in the South or in reversing the gains Hanoi has made.

The U.S. Command said Navy planes from three 7th Fleet carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin mined the entrance to Haiphong and at least five other ports and that the initial phases of the operation had been successfully accomplished without any American planes being lost.

The command refused to give further details on grounds it would provide valuable intelligence information to the enemy.

The Navy in Washington issued a formal warning to all shipping that the mine fields at the entrances of seven North Vietnamese ports would be activated at 6 p.m. local time Thursday. It said vessels sailing those waters after that "must do so at their own risk."

Critics Decry Nixon Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Critics denounced President Nixon's decision to mine North Vietnamese harbors Tuesday, calling it "reckless... international lawlessness... high crime... utter madness... a flirtation with World War III."

But others of high station in American life saw his action as evidence of "a measured response... a bold move... a courageous move... indefatigable courage."

Some even complained that it was "too little, too late."

Turbulence swirled anew on streets and campuses across the nation as antiwar demonstrators rallied, marched and sat in in protest against Nixon's escalation of the Vietnam war.

Demonstrators were escorted from atop the 630-foot St. Louis Gateway Arch, others clashed with United Nations guards in New York. Protest barricades were raised at Syracuse, (N.Y.) University, and in San Jose, Calif., a fire apparently started by an incendiary device caused $200,000 damage to an Army Reserve station.

Jerry Gordon, coordinator for the National Peace Action Coalition, called for week-long demonstrations, climaxed on Saturday by massive rallies across the country.

However, the protests seemed less widespread and less vehement immediately than those that swept American campuses in the wake of the 1970 Cambodian operation and included a National Guard confrontation which left four students dead at Kent State University four days after the President announced that action.

Talk of impeachment came from New York's militantly antiwar Democratic congresswoman, Bella Abzug, who la-

Kissinger Outlines President's Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Moscow silent on the subject, the White House said Tuesday President Nixon hopes his tough sea quarantine of North Vietnam will not derail his planned Soviet summit talks.

Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the President's assistant for national security affairs, told a White House news conference Nixon realizes his attempt to block arms-carrying Russian ships from Haiphong and other Northern ports confronts Soviet leaders with "short-term difficulties."

However, Kissinger said the chief executive still believes the two superpowers are on the verge of forging "a new era in East-West relations" that could be spurred by Nixon's planned May 22-29 visits to Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev.

The first Soviet response came from the official news agency Tass which accused Nixon of "naked aggressive acts" in violation of international law. Tass said nothing about the status of the summit.

Kissinger acknowledged that Nixon's decision to mine approaches to North Vietnamese ports often used by Soviet shipping "of course involves some risk." But he said the administration decided "it did not involve an unacceptable risk."

As for Nixon's order to cut rail lines linking North Vietnam and mainland China—another major route for war supplies—Kissinger discounted the possibility that the Peking government might get edgy.

"We will take great care," he said, "that the People's Republic of China will not misunderstand our intentions."

He spoke before a Peking broadcast reported that two Chinese ships were attacked by U.S. warplanes while anchored in Vietnamese waters.

Two Mine Fire Survivors Found

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — At least two of more than 50 miners missing for a week after fire swept the Sunshine silver mine were found alive Tuesday by rescuers nearly a mile beneath the surface. The survivors said seven more of their coworkers were dead.

Marvin C. Chase, the mine's general manager, said the two men were "in good health" when found by a rescue crew at the 4,800-foot level of the silver mine, the nation's deepest and richest. He identified the men as Tom Wilkenson and Ron Florry.

Chase said the men told their rescuers that the bodies of seven more men were in the mine's depths. If the bodies were found, it would bring the toll of known dead to 47, with 44 still unaccounted for.

Chase said the two survivors would be brought to the 3,700-foot level of the mine for physical examinations before being brought to the surface. Rescue workers, meanwhile, continued their search for miners still missing.

No location was given for the latest victims' bodies. Earlier Tuesday, rescue teams found five bodies.

The survivors were located by Bureau of Mines rescue workers who reached the depths for the first time Tuesday by means of a "torpedo"—a metal canister carrying two men—down the narrow No. 12 shaft, a ventilation outlet.

Once down, the torpedo team walked through cross-tunnels to the No. 10 shaft which houses a double hoist. It was from that area that most of the 108 initial survivors escaped, and about where the initial victims were found.

A four-man task force sent down in a special capsule to the bottom of the mine explored a 1,800-foot tunnel nearly a mile deep without finding any of the missing men. The crew then probed a 4,000-foot-long tunnel, but after proceeding more than 1,000 feet also found the search fruitless.

The bodies were found in two different areas. Four were found 3,100 feet down, and one at 3,700 feet.

Discovery of the additional victims was announced by General Manager Marvin C. Chase. He said air pumps had cleared smoke and gas from the area of the fire to allow crews to bring up all the bodies. Some had been allowed to remain there while the main effort was directed toward possible survivors.

HHH Takes West Virginia; Nebraska Still A Tossup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey trounced Gov. George C. Wallace in West Virginia's presidential primary Tuesday night, and took a narrow lead over Sen. George S. McGovern in Nebraska.

Humphrey termed his West Virginia triumph magnificent, and sought in Nebraska to make it two in one night and install himself as the front runner for the Democratic nomination.

He said he had gained his West Virginia win by standing up to Wallace while "the rest of the candidates ran out."

With 12 per cent of the precincts counted, the situation there was:

Humphrey 23,487 votes or 69

per cent.

Wallace 10,788 votes or 31 per cent.

The Nebraska race was a tight one. With 20 per cent of the precincts counted, it stood this way:

Humphrey 16,548 or 38 per cent.

McGovern 15,346 or 35 per cent.

Wallace 6,714 or 15 per cent.

The rest of an 11-candidate field trailed far behind.

The presidential preference contests in both states were advisory, not binding on the national convention delegates, who were being elected separately.

There were 35 delegate votes at stake in West Virginia, where McGovern hoped a volunteer organization and proxy campaigners would help him pick up some convention votes.

Nebraska Democrats elected 22 of their 24 delegates to the Miami Beach convention.

The outcome in those delegate races may not be known for several days. Long, complex ballots slowed the counts.

President Nixon walked away with the Republican primary in Nebraska. There was no GOP contest in West Virginia.

Nixon had 93 per cent of the early vote. Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California had 5 per cent and Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio 2 per cent. Neither campaigned actively.

Wallace campaigned not at all in Nebraska and not much in West Virginia.

Survey Shows Drug Use Widespread In America

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roughly 1.5 million Americans of high-school age and 700,000 adults say they've tried heroin at least once, a broad new government survey indicates.

This is 6 per cent of all young people aged 12 through 17, and 0.5 per cent of adults 18 and over.

The findings, released Tuesday by the National Commission on Marijuana and Drug Abuse, also indicate:

—8.3 million Americans have tried hashish; 10 per cent of young people and 5 per cent of adults.

—4.7 million have tried LSD, peyote or mescaline, 8 per cent of young people and 2 per cent of adults.

—2.6 million have tried cocaine, 5 per cent of young people and 1 per cent of adults.

—3.7 million have tried methamphetamines, or "speed," for nonmedical purposes. This is 8 per cent of young people and 2 per cent of adults.

The findings are based on a survey of 3,186 Americans conducted for the commission last September and October by Response Analysis Corp. of Princeton, N.J.

The commission said it believes the survey to be the most comprehensive look ever taken at drug use in the United States.

Earlier this year the commission released findings from the same survey which showed that 24 million Americans have tried marijuana at least once, and 8.3 million continue to use it. This is 14 per cent of young people and 15 per cent of adults.

Tuesday's findings were the first to deal with use of other drugs.

The commission said the startling findings on heroin use by the young indicate a total of 1,467,840 young Americans have tried the drug.

One-half of one per cent of the adults 18 and over reported trying heroin, indicating 687,040 have tried it nationwide.

The commission said it has no information on how many persons who try heroin or other drugs continue to use them.

Government estimates of the total number of regular heroin users in the nation range from 300,000 to 700,000. But commission chairman Raymond J. Shafer, in a statement accompanying Tuesday's findings, said flatly, "Nobody knows how many addicts there are in the country."

Shafer said the survey actually underestimated the number of persons who tried heroin or other drugs. This is because the survey included only persons in homes, and many have large numbers of addicts in the streets.

"It is clear that drug-taking is a social problem, and this is a rational use of the

No Simple Cure For Tax Inequity

The Nixon administration is taking a traveling slide-and-lecture show around the country in hopes of proving that the nation's tax system is not as lopsidedly unfair as many people, including a phalanx of opposition party presidential hopefuls, contend.

One of its main arguments is that preferential provisions in the tax laws that amount to tens of billions of dollars are generally items that tax reform advocates do not consider to be "loop-holes."

For instance, nontaxable Social Security payments, unemployment compensation and welfare payments totaled $55.1 billion in 1970. Tax deductions granted homeowners totaled another $28.7 billion in that year.

By contrast, the notorious "loop-holes"—nontaxable interest on municipal bonds, the depletion allowances taken by individuals with income from oil wells and other mining operations, stock options, etc.—added up to only $4.9 billion.

As for corporations, the percentage of their total income actually paid out in taxes comes to 38.2 per cent. This rate "is a heck of a lot higher than the effective rate on individuals," which is under 11 per cent, says Frederick W. Hickman, deputy assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy.

Even if all the tax law provisions that reduce the effective corporate tax rate to 38.2 per cent were repealed, no more than $10 billion extra would be raised—assuming it did not have a depressing effect on the economy.

"There's just no way," says Hickman, "the corporate income tax could be the tax that carried the main burden" of financing the government. This is because total corporate income is small compared with individual incomes.

Another slide indicates that the tax burden borne by Americans is lower than that of any other industrialized country except Japan, which has hardly any military expenses.

None of which gainsays the fact that there are undoubted abuses in the tax laws. Some super-rich individuals are getting off with paying less than their fair share. There is always room for reform.

But anyone who thinks that some simple, sweeping formula is going to uncover untapped billions and return other billions to the pockets of middle- and lower-income taxpayers may be chasing the pot at the end of the rainbow, than which there is only one thing more elusive—the chance that many people are going to be persuaded by the administration's facts and figures.

It Isn't The Job, It's The Monotony

All the talk about a national four-day work week being around the corner just isn't true. So says one student of the matter, anyway.

"Actually, business and industry are moving more slowly in that direction than the headlines would indicate," management consultant Roy W. Walters told an American Management Association workshop in Chicago the other day.

He points out that in the last 20 years, the average work week has been cut only 3.4 hours. The prospect is that it will be cut by only two or three additional hours in the next 10 years.

The whole idea of a four-day week seems to indicate that we are giving up on work itself as a source of engrossing interest and creative growth in favor of more leisure time. This is faulty reasoning, says Walters.

Instead of trying to stretch the weekend, he believes management should be concerned with what motivates workers. The best thing a businessman can do to alleviate employee dissatisfaction or boredom is to take a long, hard look at the jobs his employees are being asked to perform.

"Asking people, especially young people, who are leading meaningless work lives for eight hours a day, five days a week, to do the very same thing for 10 hours a day, four days a week, doesn't solve anything. What do you do for an encore—go to a 12-hour, three-day work week?"

When workers are dissatisfied with their jobs, four days instead of five won't help much, he says. Many, in fact, will take on a second job that is more rewarding, or to make up for lost overtime, thus adding to job shortages and creating new economic problems.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Frankly, I see too many signs of increasing 'speculation' in the stock market, and it worries me!"

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
The Paris peace talks enter their fifth year this week. After all the meetings and millions of fruitless words, it begins to look as if Indochina's future will be resolved not in Paris but, probably, in Vietnam.

Is there any other way? If the United States is going to continue phasing out its ground troops and the diplomatic efforts continue futile, the only American resort is to intensified bombing, and almost all hands seem to agree that bombing in itself cannot be decisive.

Ed. Note: President Nixon Monday night announced he had ordered the mining of entrances to North Vietnamese ports and the interdiction of all North Vietnamese supply lines, rail, and highway as well as naval routes.

What could alter the whole picture dramatically would be a sudden change of government in Saigon because of the pressure of North Vietnam's offensive.

The Paris talks once again are in a state of indefinite suspension.

However, the battlefield situation and the further unfolding of North Vietnam's vaunted three-prong offensive on "military, political and diplomatic" fronts make the Paris exercise seem like a curtain for the realties.

Despite heavy losses in the current offensive, Hanoi sounds exultant about results of the offensive it launched at about the time the Paris talks started in 1968.

Its strategy has brought the North Vietnamese within grabbing distance of two important goals: destruction of the whole Vietnamization concept as an American way out of the war and establishment of an entrenched Liberation Front government in a southern province.

The offensive has indicated that American air and sea power are not enough to make the Saigon army and government self-reliant. It raised an obvious question: Where would the Saigon regime be if the Americans were gone?

The North evidently had planned for just this sort of development ever since its 1968 Tet offensive failed to achieve its major objectives. That had cost the North and the Viet Cong heavily, but Hanoi had never concerned itself much with time or cost. It began planning anew.

That May, upon a partial halt to the bombing of the North, Hanoi began talking with the Americans in Paris. It soon became clear that Hanoi was there for one major purpose as its delegate put it: to learn exactly when the United States intended to stop all bombing and acts of war. Unless it did, Hanoi said, nothing could happen in Paris. Nothing did.

As the talks entered their second year, Hanoi's Foreign Ministry said progress would depend solely on the American attitude. The United States had resumed bombing the North and the Hanoi ministry said that if Washington "continues breaking its promises on suspension of bombing, we shall make an important decision." That decision may have been to prepare for inevitable intensification of the war.

For two years thereafter, the United States continued methodically withdrawing U.S. ground troops while Hanoi received new supplies of sophisticated heavy weaponry from the Soviet Union. The indications are that the current strike is seeking a knockout punch against the political leaders of the South in the hope of creating a situation wherein U.S. military power would become relatively meaningless.

Planting Time In South Vietnam

Washington McGovern Keeps Blunting HHH

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey's latest primary victories—modest over Gov. George Wallace in Indiana and quite close over Sen. George McGovern in Ohio—offer no conclusive evidence that the 1968 Democratic presidential nominee is developing a winning surge.

Indeed, with results in Ohio still incomplete, it is proper to say that McGovern's strategy is in considerably better shape than Humphrey's.

In Indiana, it took all of organized labor's efforts and the full weight of the state's Democratic leadership to salvage a 46-to-42 per cent triumph for Humphrey over Wallace. A shift of three percentage points would have turned the popular vote outcome around.

As it was, Wallace equaled the percentage he got in winning the March 14 Florida primary, and also equaled the highest percentage he has ever before attained in a northern state (Maryland in 1964).

Voting machine irregularities and inefficiencies in Cleveland leave some bad gaps in the Ohio picture. But the tentative evidence, based on the incomplete statewide totals for 38 at-large delegates (among 153 chosen altogether), give Humphrey the narrowest of margins.

Ohio should have been his state in whipping style, once Sen. Edmund Muskie dropped out. Humphrey had some of the state's top labor leaders with him, and generally a reasonably impressive roster of delegates. He spent two days in the state for every one spent by McGovern.

But McGovern, sensing opportunity after Muskie's Wisconsin failure early in April, mounted an intensive three-week media campaign, spent substantial sums also for telephone canvassing of voters, and personally blitzed the state in the final days.

A principal consequence of this is that he evidently has denied Humphrey, again, the kind of smashing victory Humphrey needs to get a winning tide rolling. He did the same a week earlier in Pennsylvania, holding Humphrey to just a 5-3 delegate advantage while campaigning only four days there to Humphrey's 18.

So Humphrey, even as he now racks up his second and third primary victories after going a lifetime with none, is still looking for proof that he can be his party's big choice for 1972.

The suspicion hangs on in key Democratic circles that Hubert's base is too narrow, that it is founded on support from the blacks and the elderly but does not go far enough into the blue collar class—notwithstanding labor leaders' earnest help in many places.

Humphrey retains the potential of winging McGovern badly somewhere along the line, either in the May 16 Michigan primary, in huge California (271 votes at a stroke for the winner on June 6), or in New York June 20. He has not yet inflicted any serious wound upon McGovern.

On the contrary, McGovern is the candidate who is exhibiting the political killer instinct, the ability to build fast from very little, to exploit openings almost as quickly as they appear.

He and his aides have known for weeks that the vulnerable part of his strategy was that

Humphrey had a chance to score big in three successive major industrial states with enormous delegate totals (Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan), while McGovern might be picking off a thin 24 votes in Nebraska and 34 in Oregon.

McGovern's very serious need was to blunt Humphrey's showings in those three big ones, to demonstrate resiliency and widening appeal.

In Pennsylvania, and evidently in Ohio, he has done just that. If he can repeat in Michigan, his strategy—rooted finally in victory in both California and New York is going to be a strong upward curve.

Ann Landers: Tall Thinking Resolves Problem

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the girl who is 24 and having trouble with her second marriage. It seems she can't control her mouth. I used to have that problem, until one day I sat myself down and did some tall thinking.

Brian decided to go back to school when he got out of the service. Holding down a full-time job and going to school demands a lot of energy. When I looked around and saw the problems our friends were having with their marriages I thanked God for this man. My only complaint was that he wasn't able to pay as much attention to me as I wanted.

Many nights I wished we could go to a movie or just talk, but I knew Brian had to study. I'd get busy with a small project so as not to pester him. Being a good wife means more than cooking and cleaning and laundry and sex. It means being a friend. And sometimes friendship demands that you leave people alone.

My typing isn't great and I see I've made some mistakes but if I take the time to write this over I'll find too many things wrong and tear it up. So please accept it the way it is. Thanks, Ann-June.

Dear June: The typesetters will take care of the mistakes. It's the sense of a letter that counts and yours has it. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: We have two teen-agers who have never given us any trouble. Until now. Perhaps it isn't fair to say they are giving us trouble but they have caused us some sleepless nights. Actually they haven't done anything, but they talk so much about drugs that we are at a loss to know how they can be so knowledgeable unless they have tried it out.

The girl is 15, the boy is near ly 17. They are good students, respectful and responsible, although the girl is a bit mouthy and the boy is a little sloppy. They have some odd-looking friends but we know where they are at all times. At least we think we do.

Here are some of the statements our children have made and we would like to know if they are true:

Marijuana is harmless. No one has proved otherwise. The world would be a better place if all alcohol was dumped into the ocean and pot was used instead.

It's a lie that LSD users have deformed babies. No one has ever proved this statement. A certain percentage of babies are destined to be born defective, regardless.

Pills can be a great help to people who need a temporary spurt of energy. They are very helpful in case of emergency. Only the idiots get hooked. If a person knows how to use pills he won't get into trouble.

The media has exaggerated the drug problem. Man has always leaned on something artificial to help him through periods of stress and strain, hunger and fatigue, and even boredom.

Can you tell us, Ann, which of the statements are true and which are false? Today the kids seem to know more than the adults. We'd like to see this letter in the column. Thank you.—Chapel Hill Ignoramuses

Law For Today

Q. My neighbor has a tree whose branches grow 15 or 20 feet over my garden—and that means my vegetables don't get all the rain and sunshine they need. Can I make my neighbor cut the branches off, at least at the property line?

A. Yes. A person whose property is invaded by a neighbor's trees or bushes, can either take it upon himself to trim the branches back to the property line or request that the neighbor do this. Moreover, if professional tree trimming is required, the tree's owner should foot the bill. If he refuses, the law will support the person who has the job done and bills the neighbor for the cost.—Illinois State Bar Assn.

Virginia Youth

VIRGINIA — People in Virginia have organized a benefit for Terry Hill, Virginia High School senior, seriously injured in an automobile accident April 21st and presently hospitalized in St. John's at Springfield in the trauma unit.

Hill is the son of Mrs. Elsie Hill, employed at a book bindery in Jacksonville. Many Virginia people have wanted to be of assistance to the youth and his mother so the Terry Hill Fund Month was instigated and will be held during the month of May.

The youth, who plans to enter military service when his education is complete, is suffering a broken back, fractured left leg and ankle and his right foot was nearly severed. His hospitalization will be long and uncertain and recuperation at home lengthy.

Contributions are being received for the fund at three different locations: Petefish, Skiles and Co. Bank, c/o Reg Jokisch; The Briggs restaurant, c/o Wendall Briggs; and Virginia Packing Co., c/o Harry Devlin, all in Virginia, Ill.

Neo-Fascists Score Election Win In Italy

ROME (UPI)—Neo-Fascists scored their greatest election triumph since World War II today and the West's largest Communist party suffered its first setback.

The results in the nation's sixth postwar national election sent shivers through the "Red Belt," the stronghold of communism, and elated the political heirs of Fascist dictator Benito Mussolini.

With 98 per cent of the senate vote counted, Neo-Fascists held 9.1 per cent of the vote—up 2.4 per cent from the 1958 election—and were assured at least 19 seats in the 322 seat senate. They held nine after the last election.

The Communists polled 28.4 per cent in the senate fight, down 1.6 per cent, and suffered their first reversal in any postwar election. The party remained the second largest in Italy, but the setbacks carried important psychological and political importance.

Despite its gains, there was no chance of Neo-Fascists taking an active role in the next government.

The Christian Democrats, the major postwar power in Italian politics, retained its position as the biggest single party and polled 38.1 per cent of the vote with a campaign centered on rejection of extremism and maintenance of law and order.

Prowling It's Not A Cougar

SPRINGFIELD (UPI)—Whatever the prowling around Adams County, conservation officials are convinced it's not a cougar. A rash of reported cougar sightings near Liberty in Adams County last winter led conservation officials to probe the area to learn if the big cats had returned to the western Illinois region which they abandoned almost 100 years ago.

"After extensive investigations by wildlife biologists, we can find no evidence that leads us to believe that there are cougars roaming free in western Illinois," Henry N. Garkhausen, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, said Monday.

After several reported sheep killings and the discovery of what was believed to be cougar tracks, bands of Adams County farmers roamed the woods to hunt down the predator cats.

But Dr. John Paul, wildlife specialist for the Illinois State Museum, said the tracks were not those of a cat because claw marks were clearly visible in plaster casts taken of tracks found next to slaughtered sheep. "A cat retracts its claws and claw marks would show up only when a cougar was climbing."

"I go . . . I will return . . ." John 14:23

Without benefit of an Atlas rocket, pressurized cabin, or any space gadgetry, Jesus ascended into heaven. There were no tracking stations, no populated support programs, and no televised audiences. Just a few disciples, straining for a final, fond glimpse of their ascending Lord. Yet by the telemetry of faith we today can track Jesus' ascent and see Him "land" at the right hand of the heavenly Father and given power and authority over all creation. The Apostle Paul explains, God "raised Him from the dead, and set Him at His own right hand in the heavenly places . . . and made Him head over all things." WEDNESDAY, MAY 10 — Born today, you are an inquisitive individual who at the same time that he delves into things to discover their inner workings may well create for himself a monster. As curiosity will lead you into knowledge, it will also lead you into trouble, for, with all you know, you never know when to leave well enough alone. There are times when your questions are most untimely, when your investigations are not only unwelcome but potentially dangerous. Keep aware of these drawbacks and try to act accordingly.

Gifted with a lively imagination, it is not at all difficult for you to embroider the truth in a given case to the point where neither you nor anyone else knows where fact leaves off and fancy begins. Such an ability can be used to real advantage in certain circumstances — storytelling, writing, fiction-creating of any kind — but it must be kept under strict control most of the time. Otherwise, you may find that you have exaggerated yourself or others into real difficulties.

Although you will probably have little to do with the arts as a youngster or young adult, as you reach your middle years, you should find yourself drawn to music, painting, sculpting, and so on. And though it may be too late by then for you to develop your very delicate — but very latent — talents, you will take much pleasure out of helping others to fulfill themselves along artistic lines.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, May 11
TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Your emotions will probably rule the day — but if you keep from associations you know are far from calming, you can make considerable gain.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — You may be subject to all kinds of extremes today: depression and joy; anger and delight, pleasure and pain. Take everything in your stride.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — A day which may well call for precisely that decision you'd been hoping not to have to make. A crucial time in the progress of your career.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Take care that in attempting to sway another away from his own opinion to yours, you don't unwittingly change your own mind!

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — Consider the appeal of another's basic personality before you draw the conclusion that you are short on ability. Causes of success are many.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — The gentle art of persuasion will take you far today, especially if you are trying to win support for a project recently begun.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — You will be told whatever news is good for you to hear in due time. In the meantime, you would be wise not to appear too eager.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Fretful children cause some alarm this morning. Your consideration in the matter of an elderly relation would be much appreciated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Unless you really have to work for your objective today, you will probably be disappointed in it when you get it. That's the way of the world.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Take care that another does not misinterpret your activities and begin to think of himself as abandoned. A new enterprise keeps you busy.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Let yourself be advised by friends. You have nothing to lose by listening — and you might very well find that you have a great deal to gain.

HARRISON HEADS N. SCHOOL PTA AT VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA — New officers for the 1972-73 school year were elected at the May 2nd meeting of the North School PTA held at the school.

President Jerry Bartlett conducted the meeting and Mrs. Bob Wilson gave the treasurer's report and recognition was given retiring officers and room mothers. Teachers present received a fresh red rose from the association.

Several letters were displayed from the third grade about the pupils tour of Passavant hospital. Jerry Bartlett read about laws and statistics on drug abuse.

The attendance award went to Mrs. Danenberger's second grade. A social hour followed the meeting.

More than 1.3 million new major appliances were purchased by Texas residents in 1971. Refrigerators topped the list.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: Going to sleep has become more of a problem with bosses. A study of 2,000 executives five years ago by the Life Extension Institute found that 90 per cent slept soundly. But in a recent study only 60.3 reported they had no sleep problem although only 3.2 per cent said they resorted to sedatives. Those having the most trouble getting to sleep were over 50 years old and made less than $15,000 a year.

The average American is pretty healthy. He spends only six days a year in bed because of illness or accidents and has to restrict his activity on nine more days from these causes. That is only 15 days out of 365 on which he doesn't feel up to par.

If you have a phobic fear of earthquakes, the place for you to live is North Dakota. No earthquake has ever been recorded in that state.

You're wrong if you think that all doctors die rich. A recent study found that one out of three physicians at death leaves his widow facing a major financial problem.

Risky: Drivers under 25 are still disproportionately more dangerous than their elders behind the wheel. Although they make up less than 22 per cent of the driving population, they made up more than 36 per cent of 1.6 million motorists who were involved in recent accidents.

Muddy mourning: When an Asmat tribesman in New Guinea dies, his anguished widow immediately throws herself on the ground and rolls in the mud. This is not only to show a proper depth of grief. The mud also masks her body scent to baffle his ghost so that it can't come back and haunt her.

It was Benjamin Disraeli who gave this recipe for a good life: "Feel slightly, think little, never plan. Take the world as you find it; enjoy everything."

Illinois College Republicans Elect Officers

The Illinois College Republican Club met for its annual meeting last week in Baxter Lounge on the Illinois College campus. Officers for 1972-73 were elected and members present heard several candidates and party leaders speak.

Speakers at the meeting included Harris Rowe, Republican Chairman of Morgan County; Bill Carl, chairman of Findley for Congress committee for the 20th District; Steve Hardin, southern area chairman of College Republicans and chairman of Morgan County Young Republicans; Clyde Baulos of Bluffs, candidate for State Representative for 49th District; Bob Foster, candidate for county commissioner of Morgan County; and Russ Armstrong, candidate for circuit clerk of Morgan County.

This was the most successful annual meeting to date for the College Republicans according to Ted Dennis, president. The College Republican Club on the I. C. campus is one of the largest and most active of any small college club in Illinois. At present three members of the club are elected precinct committeemen, three are serving on the student forum at Illinois College, and one member is an officer of the state College Republican Federation.

An easy-to-prepare dish that is rewarding.

1 pound thin spaghetti
2 cans (each 7 1/2 ounces) minced clams
1 clove garlic, crushed
6 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons olive oil
Cook spaghetti according to package directions but with barely tender; do not overcook.

Drain in a colander. To the clean empty cooking pot, add the clams (liquid included) garlic, butter and olive oil. Place over low heat until butter melts; add the cooked spaghetti; cook gently, tossing, until clam liquid is absorbed. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

bits two spades and North continues his quiet procedure with a three-club call.

South jumps to four spades and North's first impulse is to use Blackwood and go to seven after his partner shows two aces. North restrains himself and simply raises to five spades.

This gives the clear message that North can't handle either of the first two leads of hearts. South can't either and the partnership stops at a safe five spades.

The first "do" for Blackwood users is: "Do use Blackwood any time you want to know exactly how many aces your partner holds and intend to bid six if the number he shows, added to those you are looking at, equals three."

The first "don't" is: "Don't use Blackwood if you won't know if you should bid six when his answer shows that your side has three aces."

This means you definitely should not use Blackwood when your hand includes two quick losers (usually a worthless doubleton) in an unbid suit or when you are void of a suit.

How do you handle the slam invitation when you have one of these worthless doubletons? The way North bid today.

North is certainly slam-minded the moment his partner opens the bidding. He decides to take things easy and merely responds two diamonds. South re-

Jakarta Tells Java's Poor They're Unwelcome

By ISA ISMAIL
JAKARTA (UPI) — In this capital city of Indonesia there is, officially, no room for the poor.

"I do not want this city to become another Calcutta," says the tough Jakarta governor, Marine Lt. Gen. Ali Sadikin.

Two years ago Sadikin declared Jakarta a "closed city" for jobless migrants who have been forced from their rural Java villages by overpopulation and modernized farm methods that have left them without work.

In 1969, the year before Sadikin officially put the capital off limits to the nation's poor, more than 50,000 new migrants entered the city. During 1971 the number of migrants dropped to 16,585.

Proof of Job Necessary
Under Sadikin's ruling, Jakarta will accept only new migrants who can offer proof of employment and are able to post a bond with city officials of double the amount of their transportation back home.

In the wake of the country gaining independence from the Dutch in 1945, Jakarta, formerly known as Batavia, more than quadrupled in size to its present population of 4.5 million. Those two decades of uncontrolled growth were years of economic turmoil for Indonesia.

While the late President Sukarno was studding his appalling capital city with multi-million dollar monuments, his countrymen were pouring in to set up housekeeping in cardboard shantytowns that sprouted along the railway lines and in the swamps around the city. Hundreds of them even moved into the sewer systems beneath the streets.

Sadin, who won the Mag-saysay Foundation award two years ago for the "miracles" he has worked on a dying city, began moving to rehabilitate Jakarta in 1967. At that time about 15 per cent of the city's homes were supplied with electricity and fewer than that had running water.

Last year in a major campaign to instill some order in Jakarta's traffic and to rid himself of a seasonal migration of up to 200,000 poor people, Sadikin announced a program to phase out the three-wheel bicycle taxis—"betjaks"—which were the prime means of transport for people and goods in the city.

Sadin declared the central sections of the city off limits to betjak taxis between 4 a.m. and 10 p.m. daily, and he has since expanded the off limit zone.

At the time the ban went into effect, Jakarta had 120,000 betjaks—each machine providing employment for two men pedalling in shifts. The number of betjak drivers was estimated as high as 250,000 at times—and their earnings helped support nearly one million wives and children.

Most of the betjak drivers are moonlighting farmers from the Javanese countryside—men accustomed for years to planting their rice crops and then going into the city to work until harvest time. Their meager earnings, of perhaps 50 cents a day, provide the only cash their farm families see and make it possible for a large family to survive on a very small farm.

Modern Vehicles Now
Since the crackdown on the betjaks—whose role is being taken over by modern city buses and small three-wheel motorized taxis—an estimated 20,000 betjak machines have been taken out of service. And hard times have come to the survivors who are forced to compete for fares on the outskirts of town.

The betjak drivers are in an angry mood. Last month some 3,000 drivers paralyzed traffic in Jakarta's busy Chinatown district in a violent demonstration that saw them attacking passenger buses, parked cars and passing motorists. More than 175 betjak drivers were arrested before police could bring the situation under control.

Asked what the government might do to defuse the situation, a municipal spokesman commented, "What are you suggesting we do? Arrest them all and create more tension? No, we're not doing anything drastic. We are just hoping that the betjak drivers will eventually realize they must do something else."

Sadin's war on poverty in the city seems only to have begun. The pressures forcing the poor to migrate to his city—Java, is one of the most densely populated regions of the world—are outside his control.

"To those who are hungry in the countryside even the garbage piles of the city look attractive," a government spokesman conceded. So the pressures on Jakarta are likely to continue for some time to come.

4 CASS TEACHERS TO RETIRE SOON

BEARDSTOWN — Four Beardstown school teachers have announced their plans to retire following long careers in the Beardstown school system.

Hazel Lindahl, school nurse; Adele Hegener, Verna Powell and Lela Ackerman were honored at a meeting of the Beardstown Education Association and were presented with gifts.

Chamber Dinner
The May meeting of the Beardstown Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday, May 9, at 6:30 p.m. at the Park hotel.

Joel Watson of Springfield, executive director of the Illinois Comprehensive Health Care Council, will be the principal speaker.

Hospital Week
Leo Reich, director of Schmitt Memorial hospital here, has announced that the local institution will participate in the observance of National Hospital Week, which began Sunday, May 7.

In connection with this, he announced that for the year ending April 30, the local in-patient figures were 1,976 and 4,196 treated as out patients. There were 124 births at the hospital during the period.

IC Clinches Tie With 4-3 Verdict

Ken Belden's two-run double keyed a three-run sixth inning as Illinois College roared from behind to nip Greenville College 4-3 Tuesday afternoon on the IC diamond, clinching at least a tie for the Prairie College Conference baseball crown.

IC, 5-10 overall, stands 5-1 in the final PCC list, with Greenville at 3-1 with a twin-bill left against Olivet Nazarene Friday afternoon.

The Blueboys knotted the game first at 1-1 in the second on Belden's single and stolen base, a fielder's choice and an infield throwing error.

After Greenville went ahead 3-1 in the fifth on two bases-loaded walks by winning pitcher Paul Burton, the Blueboys struck in the sixth and rode Burton's strong mound work the rest of the way.

Singles by Mike Winters, Don Petefish and John Wardwell produced the first run, with Belden's long double over the left fielder's head chased in the equalizer and winner.

Tied 1-1, Pittsfield exploded for four in the sixth and iced it with four more in the sixth. Mike Barton and Jay Carlson each had a pair of hits for the winners, while Larry Smothers and Jim Jenkins combined to limit Bluffs to four singles on the day, fanning nine and walking three between them. Loser Mike Williams whiffed nine and gave up three walks.

STAUNTON - Mark Powell's single produced the only run of the game as Jerseyville bested Southwestern 1-0 in the Northwestern District meet Tuesday afternoon. The game was moved to Staunton because of wet grounds at Palmyra.

Powell and Southwestern's Jim Rathgeb hooked up in a tight pitching duel, both fanning nine and not allowing a free pass. Powell allowed only three hits and Rathgeb, who hurled the Plaza Birds to the state meet as a junior, doled out five safeties.

Jerseyville got its lone run in the fourth on singles by Stan Sidwell, Jones and Powell.

Action continued today with Jerseyville facing Brule at 4:30 at Plaza, and Calhoun meeting Northwestern at 4:30 at Palmyra. The title game will be held at 4:30 Thursday.

Fastest Lap Ever Turned At Speedway

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) - Gary Bettenhausen turned in the fastest lap ever recorded at the 500-mile Speedway here Tuesday, hitting an even 191 miles per hour.

Bettenhausen, of Tinley Park, Ill., became the favorite for Saturday's poll position honors as 38 cars put in an appearance on the 2 1/2-mile oval.

Saturday begins the first of two weekends of qualifications for the May 27 classic.

The track was closed until noon Tuesday as it dried out from rain the previous day. But during the afternoon, under partly sunny skies and a slight breeze, six other drivers topped the 180 m.p.h. mark.

Taking second fastest honors was Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., the 1968 winner, who turned the oval at 188.442.

TV TENNIS ASSURED

NEW YORK (AP) - The recent tennis truce which will permit contract professionals to play in the major championships will assure television sponsorship of the 1972 U.S. Open Tennis Championships at Forest Hill.

Joseph F. Cullman III, chairman of the board of Philip Morris, Inc., announced Tuesday that the Miller Brewing Co., a subsidiary, will be the principal sponsor of the telecasts.

A year ago, Cullman, whose company had sponsored the national telecasts for the last three years, threatened to pull out because of the bar to top pro players.

Spinks, Cardinals Down Houston, 2-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) - The St. Louis Cardinals scored twice in the first inning, then held off the Houston Astros 2-1 behind Scipio Spinks' six-hit pitching Tuesday night.

Lou Brock greeted Astros' starter Don Wilson, 1-2, with a double opening the bottom of the first. He took third as Tommy Helms booted Jose Cruz' ground ball and scored on Matly Alou's single.

The Cards scored their second run on Joe Torre's double over first base but were stymied after Wilson purposely walked Ted Simmons, filling the bases with none out.

Spinks, a 6-foot-1 right-hander acquired by the Cards in exchange for left-hander Jerry Reuss a day after the season opened, had a shutout until the seventh inning.

Cruz raced to shallow left-center for Roger Metzger's pop fly but bobbled the ball for a two-base error. Cesar Cedeno followed with a run-scoring single.

The victory was the first for Spinks, 2-1, over his former teammates.

JHS, Winchester Win In District

Jacksonville High School and Winchester notched easy victories Tuesday afternoon in the Routt District Tournament at the Pony-Colt Park, setting up a title game, date Wednesday at 6:30. The winner advances to next week's JHS Regional.

The Crimsosons clipped North Greene 8-1, with Winchester ripping Franklin 15-4 in five innings.

JHS came from a 1-0 deficit to lead 5-1 after three and iced it with a three-run fifth inning. Dave Lampitt had three hits and Claude Christison, Dave Waltrip and Tim Reiterman two each for the winners in an 11-hit attack.

Reiterman allowed only a fourth-inning single by Karl Wendell, fanning nine batters and walking three. Reiterman fanned seven straight batters in one stretch.

Winchester came from a 1-0 deficit to push across 11 runs in a wild third inning. Five free passes, three of ten Frank-lin fielding miscues, singles by Rodney Nicholson and Don Hankins and a three-run round-tripper by Nicholson highlighted the outburst.

Nicholson went the distance for the winners in a four-hitter and collected three of Winchester's nine hits.

Nets Stave Off Rally, Even Series

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The New York Nets held off a frantic rally by the Indiana Pacers Tuesday night to even their American Basketball Association championship playoff series at one game apiece with a 117-115 victory.

The Pacers, behind from midway in the second period and by as many as 16 points, ran off 16 straight points in the final four minutes to take a 115-114 lead.

Rick Barry then scored a clutch basket with 26 seconds remaining to put New York ahead to stay and added a free throw with three seconds showing on the clock.

Barry, who sat out nearly the entire third period after drawing his fourth foul, scored 10 of his 29 points in the final period.

The Pacers drew within five points twice in the fourth period before falling behind 114-99 as guard Bill Melchioni scored six points in about two minutes to lead the New York flurry.

The Pacers then ran off their long string as New York missed seven shots and turned over the ball five times.

Melchioni added 26 points, including 17 in the second half, and John Roche and Bill Paulitz each had 18.

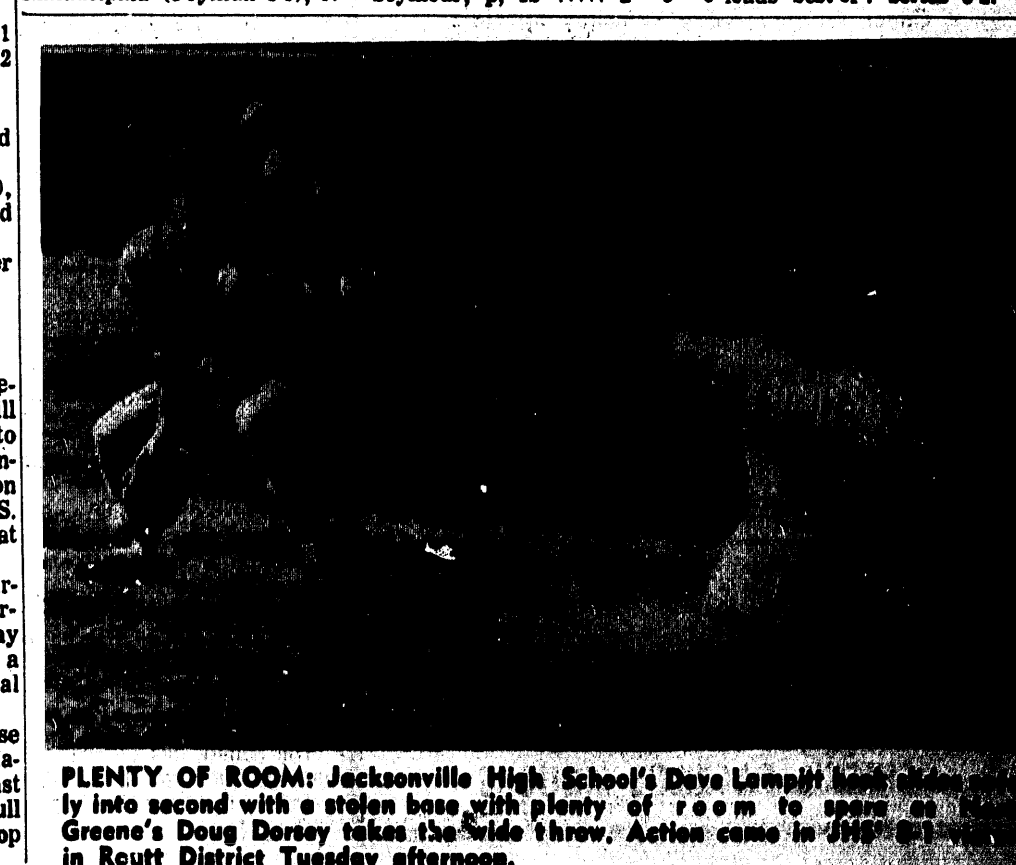

The Pacers had veteran Roger Brown and rookie George McGinnis on top of the scoring with 22 points each. Freddie Lewis added 21.

Brown scored eight of the Pacers' points in the late rally, including a three-point play to put them ahead.

The third game of the best-of-seven series will be played Friday night at the Nassau Coliseum. Game No. 4 is scheduled for Monday night in New York and Game No. 5, back here on May 18.

New York, which lost the rebound battle in the series opener 55-36, outrebounded the Pacers 47-45.

Rangers Stay Alive

BOSTON (AP) — Shifty Bobby Rousseau, scoreless in his last 22 games against Boston, connected for a pair of third period goals Tuesday night and rallied the New York Rangers to a 3-2 victory in the fifth game of their National Hockey League Stanley Cup championship series against the Bruins.

The victory left the Rangers trailing the best-of-seven series 3-2, with game six scheduled for Thursday night in New York.

If a seventh game is required, it will be played Sunday afternoon in Boston.

With the treasured Stanley Cup waiting to be presented, the Bruins carried a 2-1 lead into the final 20 minutes as they tried for the clincher on their home ice. But the Rangers, who skated 89 seconds near the end of the second period with two men in the penalty box, would not be denied.

Rousseau tied the score at 2:56 when his shot dribbled through the pads of goalie Ed Johnston, who played another brilliant game in the Boston nets.

With the score tied both teams had excellent opportunities but Johnston and New York goalie Gilles Villeneuve stood off the threats. Then, at 12:45, Rousseau struck again.

The Bruins lifted Johnston with 63 seconds remaining, but Villeneuve held off the assault.

Boston struck for the game's opening goal with less than four minutes gone in the first period when Wayne Cashman connected from close in.

New York tied the game when defenseman Dale Rolfe converted Walt Tkaczuk's rebound at 13:45. But less than three minutes later the Bruins had the lead again on Ken Hodge's power play goal.

Unser's Homer Boosts Indians Past Royals 2-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Del Unser's first home run of the season, a two-run shot with two out in the eighth inning, broke out a pitching duel between Cleveland's Dick Tidrow and Kansas City's Paul Splittorff Tuesday night and gave the Indians a 2-1 victory over the Royals.

Unser's blast over the right field fence scored Tidrow, who had singled to left with two out. Tidrow, a rookie, limited the Royals to four hits before being replaced by Steve Mingori with two out in the ninth.

Tidrow, 2-2, had blanked the Royals on two hits until Lou Piniella hit his second homer of the season with two out in the ninth. The homer ended the Indian pitching staff's consecutive scoreless inning streak at 34.

Following Piniella's homer, Richie Schenblum walked and Paul Schaaf singled, knocking out Tidrow. Mingori then got pinch hitter Amos Otis on a force-out grounder, ending the game.

Tidrow struck out six and walked four.

FIGHT PACTS SIGNED
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Contracts have been signed, promoter Bill Miller said Tuesday, for the June 28 boxing card which features Bob Foster in defense of his world light heavyweight championship against Mike Quarry and ex-heavyweight king Muhammad Ali in a bout with Jerry Quarry.

The Quarry brothers will be the underdogs in the double main event.

All, the big drawing card for the closed circuit TV card, has been guaranteed $500,000. Jerry Quarry $175,000 and Mike Quarry $40,000. The exact purse for Foster has not yet been disclosed although reportedly it will be close to $100,000.

The final business was the election of a vice-president who will automatically move into the position of president next year. Jim Reynolds was elected vice-president.

The Senate has passed a resolution that Sept. 23 be designated as National Hunting and Fishing Day.

Asks Athletes Not Under Wage Limits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Placing professional athletes under wage controls "would result in a messy situation," Marvin Miller told the Pay Board Tuesday.

Because of an athlete's short career, averaging 4.5 to 6 years, Garvey said, "any control on his salary is magnified."

"One can understand a 5.5 per cent limitation since the average non-athlete career is 25 years," the NFLPA executive director said. "But a pro athlete's career is only one-fourth or one-fifth as long, and any control on his salary is magnified four or five times."

John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, echoed most of the players' complaints against the proposal, but stopped short of asking for complete exemption. He said his group favors flexibility.

"Players do need relief" from wage controls, "in our opinion," Thompson said.

Also testifying was Joseph Day of the Professional Golfers Association.

The proposal to place pro athletes under wage controls was submitted by Robert Bassett when he was a business member of the Pay Board.

Bassett, who left the board when it was reorganized, proposed that boxers, golfers, auto racers, tennis players, jockeys and other pro athletes whose earnings are determined "by individual winning or losing... or by a percentage of the 'gate'" be exempted from the wage guidelines.

But, he placed under the 5.5 per cent guidelines pro baseball, football, basketball and hockey players.

A staff paper prepared by the Office of Economic Policy and Case Analysis sided with the players' representatives. "Public opinion often forgets both the short span of the athletes' careers and their relatively low average salary," the staff paper said. "It concentrates instead on the high compensation offered the stars, considering these salaries to be representative of the industry as a whole."

The staff paper said exempting pro athletes from wage controls would not harm the economy because of the small number of people involved. But it did note that pro sports, "given its high visibility, could have a psychologically inflationary effect on the economy."

Players drafted were: Paul Kiersey team — Dan Hardesty, Everette Landreth, Jim Brien, Keller's team — Dan Hardesty, Bob Schuett, and Hazen Whalin.

Jack Alred's team — John Baptist, Jim Birkett, Jim Buckley, Don Craddock and Floyd Craft.

Steve Bockemeier's team — Jack Brown, Jim Blesse, Darrell Jokisch, Paul Popiel and Bud Walker.

Frank Harris' team — Bob Byers, Paul Curtis, Gary Church, Jerry Frey, Duane Hess and Karl Kerstein.

League play is set to start on Monday, May 15, with the time starting at 4:45 and continuing until 8:00. Players who competed in last year's league will start with the handicap they ended the year with. New players will have handicaps posted from previous rounds played.

A few vacancies are still available in the league. Individuals interested are encouraged to call a team captain who only has six players.

Teams are composed of seven players with all seven playing each week. The team score each night will be the best four scores with handicap for each team. The lowest team score will be awarded six points, the second lowest five, and so forth until the highest score gains one point.

Awards each night will be presented to the best actual score, best handicapped score and nearest to the pin. Seasons awards will be presented at the Awards Banquet to individual players on first and second place teams. For the players with the lowest actual score, the lowest handicapped score, the best putting average, the lowest handicapped average, and the most improved.

A Flag Tournament will be held immediately following the last night of the league, and the Awards Banquet the next week. League appointments made by President Jim O'Brien were Banquet Committee chairman — Steve Bockemeier, and Weekly Score Reporter — Gary Church.

The final business was the election of a vice-president who will automatically move into the position of president next year. Jim Reynolds was elected vice-president.

PADRES ARE COUSINS
SAN DIEGO (AP) — When New York Met pitcher Tom Seaver faces the San Diego Padres just mark up another win. When he beat them 5-1 here in April it marked his 10th victory without a defeat against them.

However, when the Padres scored their run it snapped Seaver's 1972 scoreless inning string which had reached 21 innings.

Montreal took a 1-0 lead in the third inning when John Boccabella led off with a triple and scored on Tim Lincecum's sacrifice fly. The Expos added a run in the fourth.

The Giants' defense fell apart in the sixth, saddling Juan Marichal with his fifth setback in six decisions.

Bob Bailey led off with a single and went to third when Marichal fielded Jorgensen's bunt and threw the ball into center field for an error. Ron Fairly then lofted a fly ball to center field. Bailey held third but Jorgensen went to second when Dave Kingman bobbled Ken Henderson's relay throw for an error.

San Francisco scored its only run off Mike Torrez, 2-0, in the eighth.

Durham: No Fight With Ali This Year

MARGATE, N.J. (AP) — Yancey Durham, manager of world heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, says there isn't going to be a return fight with Muhammad Ali this year.

"Never mind what Jack Kent Cooke or anybody else says, there isn't going to be a return fight this year," Durham insisted at the champ's training camp here.

Cooke, owner of basketball's Los Angeles Lakers and hockey's Los Angeles Kings, promoted the first Frazier-Ali fight and has an option for the rematch. He wants to hold it in the Forum, which he owns, in Inglewood, Calif.

"Even before the first fight I had it in mind that if there would be a rematch, it wouldn't be held until 1973," said Durham.

Frazier is training for his May 25 defense against Ron Stander in Omaha, Neb. The champion has pledged half his share of the purse to the Yancey Durham Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation. Durham is giving his entire 15 per cent and the promotion is contributing 10 per cent to the cause.

Durham confirmed that Cooke has a two-year option to promote the Frazier-Ali rematch, but said, "there are two or three things in the contract I think I can use to break it—I'd have to go to the courts on that."

Durham said he has not ruled out Madison Square Garden as the site of the next Frazier-Ali bout, despite the fact that the New York state income tax took a big chunk out of the purse.

Frazier disposed of Terry Daniels in New Orleans last Jan. 15 for his 25th knockout in an all-victorious career of 28 professional fights.

Durham defended fighting such opponents as Daniels and Stander when he said, "there's no point in taking on our left-overs a second time, like Jimmy Ellis, Buster Mathis, George Chuvalo and the next guy Clay's fighting, Jerry Quarry. We knocked them all out already. Clay can have them."

Durham ruled out Cooke's Inglewood Forum.

Frazier talked a little about how much each fighter should get for the rematch.

"Clay (Frazier refuses to use Ali), keeps saying he wants six million to fight me again," said the champ. "That just doesn't make sense. If he wants that much, what does he think I ought to get, 12 million? Remember, I'm the champion. I'll fight him for 3½ million and I don't care what they pay him."

The champion has been working out for about two weeks in the Seven Champs Gym at Pleasantville, N.J., while living at a motel here. He weighed 216 after two tough rounds Sunday with sparring partner Moleman Williams and Mike Boswell. He leaves for Omaha Monday.

Durham says Frazier will train seven weeks in all for the Stander fight.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Histal Hernia May Be Cause
A Burning From Stomach Acid

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb—What could be the reason for an attack of acute indigestion causing nausea which will wake one from a sound sleep in the middle of the night? All of the discomfort seems to be in the esophagus. I am 45 and have had this problem for years. I have been checked out with X-rays several times and no real cause is found. I am short-waisted. Could this contribute to my problem? Several weeks ago I had an attack of severe chest pain and the doctor put me through all the tests in the hospital. He found nothing except that my stomach hits the diaphragm though did not cause hiatal hernia. What are the main causes of such an attack and treatments? What are the precautions against another attack?

Dear Reader—It is very difficult to know exactly what you had on the little amount of information available. You say that you have had acute acid indigestion with nausea. I presume this means the kind of discomfort you could have if you had a regurgitation of the acid contents of the stomach to the lower part of the esophagus.

While it is true that this commonly occurs as a result of hiatal hernia, it can also occur if a portion of the esophagus extends below the diaphragm. This affects the normal closure of the opening of the stomach and allows regurgitation of acid juices from the stomach into the lower esophagus, which in this case might be below the diaphragm. The lower lining of the esophagus is sensitive to the burning characteristic of acid juice from the stomach. It is possible that this could be associated with being short-waisted.

Regurgitation of the stomach's contents can occur whenever there is any form of disturbance of the normal closure mechanism at the entrance of the stomach. Now there are a lot of other reasons for waking up with indigestion at night, even including a heart attack, but inasmuch as you say you have had this for years and had it investigated several times, recurring attacks of this sort would be less likely to be caused by heart attacks. Spasm of the esophagus can also cause it.

Since you state that these occur at night, and don't refer to them occurring at other times, I would think it may be the reflux problem very similar to hiatal hernia. In that case the best treatment would be essentially the same things recommended for hiatal hernia. That includes small meals and

Sewing Teacher Tells
How To Set In Sleeves

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—I am answering Mrs. R.J.M.'s problem with setting in sleeves. I have been a sewing teacher for several years and one of the misconceptions concerning sewing is that a sleeve should be gathered or pleated in and nothing makes a garment look more homemade. First, this fullness is necessary for a proper fit and should be eased in—but how? Sew two rows of gathering (long) stitches  $\frac{1}{4}$  and  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch from the edge over the top of the sleeve between the notches. Then pull these threads until the sleeve fits the armhole. Pin underarm seams, notches and the top of the sleeve to the shoulder seam. Pin in place by dividing the fullness evenly and smoothing down all puckers with pins—use plenty of pins. Baste and then stitch by machine. Remove basting threads, trim seam and press toward the sleeve. If sewing on wool or tailoring a garment this fullness can also be steamed out. Steam out the fullness on the seam allowance only. Shape cap or sleeve, using a pressing ham or milt (curved surface) before setting in sleeve.—MRS. M.C.B.

DEAR POLLY—When pinning in a sleeve I find the result is smoother if the pins are placed perpendicular to the seam edge.—POLLY

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Sometime ago a member of my family spilled some milk on my Bible preferably nothing to eat for about two hours before you go to bed. If continued to have trouble, it would be well to have the head of the bed elevated.

Be careful not to eat anything after a set time in the evening. Don't drink anything to stimulate acid production. You could try these simple measures at first and if you are still having discomfort take some anti-acid tablets before going to bed. You can obtain these without a prescription in any drug store.

Of course, I assume you will stop drinking coffee and avoid cigarettes and alcohol, all of which may add to your complaint.

Please send your questions and comments to Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Lamb cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

THE AMERICAN RUBE
LIFESAVER

(Continued From Page One) belied Nixon's decision "high crime." She said several other representatives would join her in introducing an impeachment resolution.

Another New Yorker, Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits, suggested Congress might cut off military aid to force Nixon to submit his latest Vietnam plan for congressional approval.

Sen. George S. McGovern, pursuing his quest for the Democratic presidential nomination in Nebraska, called the President's action "reckless, unnecessary and unwarranted." It is a flirtness with World War III. But he counseled against "damaging demonstrations."

One of McGovern's chief rivals for the nomination, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., left Nebraska to return to Washington to consult congressional leaders about what he called the "serious escalation of the war." He said it places the United States "in unpredictable danger."

On the other hand, Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., said, "I support the decision of the President," and Sen. Milton Young, R-N.D., called it the route to "a quick and honorable final solution."

Others, like Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, called Nixon's course of action "too little, too late."

"Had such action been taken six years ago, or four or five years ago," said Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., Ind-Va., "the United States would have been spared many casualties and much anguish. Only time will tell whether such a step will be effective now."

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., declared: "I hope and pray the President has made the correct decision. But it appears to me that such action is seven or eight years too late."

Chairman of the two major parties split along predictable lines. Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., saw Nixon's action as "a bold move, a necessary move." His Democratic counterpart, Lawrence F. O'Brien, said Nixon "has established conditions for the ending of this conflict that cannot be accepted by the Senate. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., called the plan "the most reckless act of international lawlessness that any American president has ever committed." But Rep. David E. Satterfield III, D-Va., praised Nixon's action as "a measured response, which also delivers to us an improved bargaining position for obtaining the release of American prisoners of war and an internationally supervised ceasefire."

The heads of two of the largest veterans' organizations supported the President. Joseph L. Vicitte, national commander of the VFW, said Nixon "had no other alternative," and American Legion Commander John H. Geiger declared, "We are now on the right track."

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., pledged his support and praised "Nixon's indefatigable courage," but Sen. George Allen, R-Vt., declared: "There is a battle of brinkmanship going on between the United States and Russia and I'm considerably worried that somebody may go too far."

While the nation's elders debated Nixon's wisdom, his youth went back to the streets in renewed antiwar protest.

There were all-night vigils at the state capital in Salem, Ore., and outside the Naval ROTC building at Iowa State University in Ames.

More than 100 protesters gathered beneath rainy skies and blocked doorways at the Binghamton, N.Y., federal building. Forty-eight were arrested, most of them students at the State University in Binghamton.

At Syracuse University, about 150 antiwar students erected barricades at campus entrances. They made no effort to prevent security forces from removing them, however.

About 150 demonstrators obtained a promise from Minnesota's Democratic Gov. Wendell Anderson that he would protest the war's escalation in a telegram to President Nixon.

A token delegation of eight protesters was admitted to the United Nations. But when they sought to push farther into the building, they clashed with guards. About 200 others remained across the street in a protest organized by the Vietnam Veterans Against the War.

Seven members of the VVAW staged the hour-long protest at the St. Louis Gateway Arch. A spokesman said they would return.

About 300 demonstrators blocked off a road Tuesday near Northwestern University as sporadic protests were held throughout the state against the stepped-up Vietnam action announced by President Nixon.

Evansville police diverted traffic along Sheridan Road as the demonstrators erected a snow fence and used other materials as a barricade.

It marked the second instance Tuesday when antiwar protests interfered with traffic in the Chicago area.

Nine persons were arrested as about 30 demonstrators tied up morning rush hour traffic on an expressway near the downtown district. They were among a group, police said, in seven cars which blocked all four eastbound lanes on the Eisenhower Expressway. As traffic backed up for about two miles on the expressway, the demonstrators, numbering about 30, passed out antiwar leaflets among the idle motorists. When authorities arrived with tow trucks, four of the cars left, police said.

Those arrested were charged variously with mob action, obstructing traffic and disorderly conduct.

Elsewhere, eight persons were bodily carried by U.S. marshals from the Chicago office of Sen. Chas. H. Percy, R-Ill.; a group of Vietnam veterans took over for about three hours an inner office in the Illinois campaign headquarters of Nixon; peaceful rallies were staged at several points at which to devote what new course the student antiwar effort will take in light of Nixon's policy changes.

The Illinois Veterans Job Fair was disrupted but officials said the action had been planned long before Nixon's address Monday night.

Among those evicted from the Percy office were three persons convicted earlier this year for destroying records in the Evanston Selective Service office. They were among a group of about 40 demonstrators who gathered in the office to wait for a telephone call from the senator, stating his stance on the new Nixon policy.

Eight of the demonstrators made their way into the inner office of an administrative assistant and were carried out by marshals after they refused to leave. Later they rejoined the larger group in Percy's outer office and the entire group departed for the Civic Center Plaza to hear antiwar speeches.

Order Sears To Clarify Indictment

CHICAGO (AP) — A Circuit Court judge described as vague Tuesday an indictment against the Cook County (Chicago) state's attorney and 13 others and ordered a special prosecutor to clarify it.

The indictment against State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan, an assistant and 13 policemen grew out of events following a police raid on a flat in which two Black Panther leaders were shot to death. The indictment accused the men of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

"The indictment leaves something to be desired and certain warrants some clarification," Judge Philip J. Romalt observed. He directed Barnabas F. Sears, the prosecutor, to draw up a bill of particulars that would supply Hanrahan and the others with a full list of evidence and grand jury transcripts.

The 21-count indictment covers 10 pages. Wayland B. Cedarquist, assistant to Sears, contended that 5,100 of the 6,941 pages of transcripts already have been given the defense.

The judge set May 30 for ruling on a motion by Hanrahan to amend the indictment and strike some portions from it.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the big stick now carried by the Price Commission, the feeling persists in business circles that the overall impact will be more like a tap on the hand than a club on the head.

Most frequently heard is the comment that the country needs profits to feed the expansion and that the administration therefore cannot clamp down too hard.

If the Price Commission interferes too directly or bluntly to depress the gathering economic momentum, these business spokesmen add, the consequences will be political as well as economic, a major consideration always but more so this year.

Perhaps the greatest source of confidence are figures showing that profit margins, while higher than a year ago, are still beneath levels of many recent years.

"When a firm reports that its earnings are triple those of a year earlier—as Chrysler did in the first quarter—it is usually a sign that profits in the earlier period were unusually low," says First National City Bank.

Overall, says First City, "the rise in factory margins during the past year was slight, but results varied widely from industry to industry. On a seasonally adjusted basis, it claims, profit margins have changed little."

It concedes, however, that "the threats of rollbacks and changes in the rules governing prices and profits cannot be left to chill the business climate and discourage risk-taking."

Standard & Poor, one of the oldest of the market advisory services, states:

"Tough talk from the Price Commission, threatening selective rollbacks of price increases, could be less damaging than the spate of headlines might suggest."

A trillion-dollar economy is too large, S&P suggests, to suffer in a major way from the voluntary price restraints and enforced cutbacks.

"Moreover," adds S&P, "Grayson (Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson) maintains that he is intent on 'holding down prices, not profits.'"

These comments are typical rather than isolated. The feeling is widespread that business has not only justice on its side but political and economic timing also.

Hovercraft Gain Interest Of Traffic Engineers

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A movement to move commuters in high speed hovercraft on waterways is gaining the interest of traffic engineers.

A Pawcatuck, Conn., firm, Transportation Technology, Inc., is seeking to introduce a new kind of English hovercraft that looks like a catamaran into the United States. John Kennedy, executive vice president of the firm, said a Portuguese firm has been operating two of the craft and has just ordered a third to ferry commuters to Lisbon over a five-mile water route that saves 100 miles of land travel. In all, 14 of the craft have been sold for commercial ferry use in England, Portugal, Italy and the Far East.

Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., a New York engineering firm, has raised the prospect of using hovercraft or hydrofoils as one way of solving what it called the "approaching ultimate traffic jam" in urban areas.

Company to Make Study The company has a contract from the New Jersey Department of Transportation to do a feasibility study of three water routes into New York as a back up service or an alternate to bus and train service.

Kennedy said the English craft his company wants to introduce in the United States does not rise on stilts out of the water like a hydrofoil, nor does it resemble the conventional saucer shaped hovercraft with a flexible skirt. It rides close to the surface of the water and is powered conventionally by propellers driven by ordinary marine diesel engines with shafts angling out of the twin fiberglass hulls.

"This craft can cope with waves as high as 12 feet and the accompanying winds, which a conventional hovercraft with flexible skirt could not brave," Kennedy said. But the craft is not amphibious like the conventional military hovercraft.

U.S. Law Kennedy's company is getting ready to manufacture the craft in the United States because present U.S. law forbids importation of hulls for commercial coastal or inland common carrier service.

In England, the craft have been tested in night use on the Thames River and elsewhere, and the British Department of Trade and Industry has found them safe for night traffic despite the high speed.

Kennedy said some large operators of fishing party boats are also interested in his catamaran hovercraft. "They figure the high speed will let them make two runs to the fishing grounds daily instead of one," he explained.

TRY THE CLASSIFIEDS

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took two plunges Tuesday in sharp reaction to developments in the Vietnam war. Trading was heavy as prices dropped for a wide variety of stocks, but tapered off late in the session.

The first steep slide came in the opening hour of business, when 7.14 million shares changed hands, and it was attributed to an emotional response to President Nixon's announcement that North Vietnamese ports were being mined.

The second came in the afternoon, when a Red Chinese broadcast brusquely criticized the United States for "brazenly and repeatedly" attacking two Chinese merchant ships in North Vietnamese waters May 6 and May 8.

Floor traders said this enervating development brushed aside a brief rally that blue-chip issues had managed to work up in midday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had plummeted 16.71 points in the first hour, but by noon it was only 4.59 points on the minus side.

The Dow indicator closed at 925.12, down 12.72, the steepest one-day decline since Nov. 1, 1971, when it dropped 13.14 to 925.85.

Before the market closed there was a report from Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency that two U.S. destroyers had shelled "a number of populated areas in Haiphong" but that shore batteries had set the vessels afire.

Indicating the breadth of the declines, losing issues overwhelmed advancing issues 1,380 to 180.

The final-volume figure for the Big Board was 19.91 million shares, reflecting the slower trading toward the end. In Monday's very slow session, 11.25 million were bought and sold.

The NYSE index of more than 1,300 common stocks closed at 58.17, down .84. The Associated Press 60-stock average, down 4.6, hit a 1972 low at 326.3.

The price-change index on the American Stock Exchange was off .33 to 27.07, the sharpest drop since Aug. 3, 1971, when it lost .35.

In over-the-counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index was down 2.84 to 125.78. On the Big Board, where 1,744 issues were traded, there were 241 new yearly lows and 8 new yearly highs.

Volume on the American Stock Exchange was 5.85 million shares, compared with 3.14 million Monday. There were 918 declines and 127 advances among the 1,221 issues traded.

Volume leader on the Big Board was American Motors, down 1/4 to 8 3/4 on 287,300 shares.

Personal Tax

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Agricultural Association said Tuesday it is asking the Illinois Supreme Court to order all personal property taxes paid by individuals for 1971 be kept in a separate account by county tax collectors.

The announcement said the purpose is to make certain there will be money available in the treasury of each county to make a refund to taxpayers if the United States Supreme Court reinstates an exemption of individuals from the tax. The suit has been filed, the association said.

A 1970 referendum ended the tax on individuals, but the Illinois Supreme Court said the abolition discriminates against corporate taxpayers.

The IAA said Cook County taxpayers already have been given a protection similar to the one sought by the association.

Simon Named To SSU Faculty In Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, 43, defeated for the Democratic nomination for governor, and James C. Worthy, 62, Chicago businessman, were appointed to posts in the field of public affairs Tuesday.

Simon was defeated in the March 21 primary by Dan Walker, independent Democratic candidate.

The appointments of Simon and Worthy go to the Board of Regents for confirmation, university President Robert C. Spencer announced.

Simon was named director of a program in public affairs reporting and a professor of public affairs.

Worthy was appointed professor of public affairs and management. Simon, whose appointment is effective in September, will carry out his faculty duties without pay until January 1973 when his term as lieutenant governor expires.

Worthy's appointment is effective July 1. Simon's duties primarily will be to help develop and direct a graduate program, scheduled to begin this fall, in which students will combine classroom work with an internship involving work as news reporters during the legislative session.

He has been a newspaper publisher, editor, author and legislator.

Worthy will devote himself to Sangamon State programs in management applicable to business, education and government. He has served state, local and federal governments in a variety of positions and as a consultant.

FORD WORKERS GET CHILD-CARE ALLOWANCES

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ford Foundation is now providing child-care allowances for employees making $20,000 a year or less.

Most of the foundation's 27 eligible employees have already enrolled in the two-month-old program that is available for families in which both parents are employed, the employee is the head of a single-parent household or the staff member's spouse is a full-time student.

Families with a gross income of $10,000 or less receive $15 a week for each child under 6 and $7.50 a week for children between 6 and 12. Families earning up to $20,000 receive two-thirds of this.

State To Seek Mental Health Matching Funds

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois is exploring the possibility of obtaining matching federal funds for patient care in state mental institutions, an official of the state mental health department says.

Robert E. Lanier said Monday state officials were notified in January that 50 per cent matching funds were available if the state met certain federal requirements for intermediate care.

Intermediate care is a category between care for patients in state institutions which require skilled, intensive nursing supervision and those in community shelter care homes who require less skillful and constant supervision.

Some patients in shelter-care homes currently receive 50 per cent of their care costs from federal welfare funds while the state pays the rest, Lanier said.

He said the study is exploring whether the state could qualify for similar federal aid if they require only intermediate supervision.

"This is at a very preliminary stage," said Lanier, special assistant to department director Dr. Albert J. Glass. "There have been no decisions. We are studying the levels of patient care, the number of patients that might be involved and the application of federal standards."

All-Volunteer Army With 'Zero-Draft' In Case It's Needed

By JOHN B. MARTIN

"The Army of the future will be composed of all-volunteers, but I will ask the Congress of the United States to continue the draft, or at least the machinery for the draft . . . in case it's needed," Secretary of the Army Robert F. Froehke told members of the Jacksonville Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

Froehke explained that the mission of the present United States Army is "to be ready, willing and capable of waging war, if directed to do so by the civilian, political leadership of the country. He said the military leadership of the army is ready to accomplish their mission while praying for peace."

He described the army's role as a "mission of peace." He said the United States must have an army for selfish reasons — to deter with strength and defend in time of need. He said that as a world power, it is a responsibility to keep the peace.

"If you then agree that we need an army, we can sit down and discuss the politics of how many and how they are selected," he said.

He described his "Zero-Draft" concept as that of keeping the machinery intact for use in emergency. He said an all-volunteer army will work as long as we are not engaged in hostilities.

"When people are dying, the draft is necessary and equitable so that we can spread the risk of death over the entire population and not just a select group such as the volunteer army."

Froehke called attention to the fact that military personnel did not have any part in the commitment of the army to duty in southeast Asia. He described the army's role in Vietnam as 1 — to stop aggression from the north; 2 — to train the South Vietnamese to defend themselves; 3 — as soon as the training is complete, withdraw.

He said the training was accomplished very well but the question is "do they have the will to fight." He said in his opinion the troops of the South were doing a good job.

He said of the recent change in policy, criticism alone is not sufficient. "What would you do to protect 55,000 of our soldiers?"

A former insurance executive, Froehke explained that his particular job is to see that the proper personnel and logistics are maintained. His job does not include the tactical disposition of troops.

Management is his specialty. He said he would rather manage a group of volunteers who wanted to be where they were rather than a "bunch of crybabies" who would rather be elsewhere.

51st Annual Meeting
State Rep. Thomas C. Rose was the toastmaster for the evening. The banquet was held at the MacMurray dining hall with about 400 guests present for the 51st annual meeting.

Retiring President William L. Fay reported on the accomplishments of the Chamber of Commerce during the past year. He cited an increase of membership from 730 to 796 due primarily to the work of the contact club. He presented awards to Attorney John Bellatti as the top individual salesman for the Chamber and the team of James Atherton, plant manager at Carnation, Max Roegge, president of First National Bank, and William Oxyley, innkeeper at Holiday Inn, for top team prizes.

Fay expressed his appreciation to the board of directors and staff at the Chamber for dedicated efforts during his tenure.

Robert H. Caldwell, president of Grizzly Corporation, was installed as the new president of the Jacksonville Area Chamber of Commerce. Caldwell pledged his efforts to continue the tradition of progress and asked for the help of all members to accomplish his goal.

Secretary Froehke discussed various aspects of his job with a small group of students at MacMurray shortly after his arrival in Jacksonville Tuesday afternoon.

Black was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

Diana E. Birdsall, 18, of 1320 Lincoln Ave., was cited for improper starting after an accident on West State St., near the Fayette St. intersection, about 12:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Scenic Rivers Bill Killed In Committee

By LARRY KRAMP
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—

Downstate rural Republicans in an Illinois Senate committee Tuesday guided defeat of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's Scenic Rivers bill, a keystone in his environmental program.

Rep. Theodore Meyer, R-Chicago, who had guided the bill through the House last year, watched the 8-3 vote recommending defeat and told newsmen, "It's dead. By two to one, it's dead."

However, Director Henry N. Barkhausen of the Illinois Conservation Department, said another bill would be introduced in January.

Sen. Tom Merritt, R-Hoopston, struck not only at Barkhausen but hit at Ogilvie as well in telling his opposition to what he considered an invasion of private property.

Committee Passes EPA Funding Bill

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee quickly passed legislation Tuesday for the funding of the Environmental Protection Agency and a measure aimed at reimbursing local districts in case of personal property tax relief.

The legislation now goes to the House. William Blaser, director of the fledgling EPA, came prepared with a 14-page speech, but the committee okayed the $9 million appropriation after it was endorsed by a subcommittee. The vote was 21-0.

Moments later the legislators unanimously moved to the House floor a measure for operating the Institute for Environmental Quality, but cut $213,500 from the requested $2 million appropriation.

Rep. James Nowlan, R-Toulon, told the committee his bill for reimbursing local taxing districts was "a partial replacement measure" to reflect the impact any property tax relief might have in the fiscal year beginning this July.

It calls for $5 million to be appropriated for the 1973 fiscal year with another $20 million expected to be needed in the 1974 fiscal year. Some Democrats suggested that the total $25 million be appropriated this year. The measure passed with 13 approvals. All of the Democrats voted "present" indicating that the measure may be amended on the House floor.

In other action, the committee agreed to move to the floor bills appropriating $67 million for the running of the state's aircrafts and $1.1 million for funding the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Authority. Both votes were unanimous.

The airport authority would coordinate the building and running of a new regional airport southeast of St. Louis if a site near Waterloo is approved.

In the final version, Barkhausen said, the department had retreated from a zoning of a quarter-mile of land on each side of the rivers to a 330-foot restriction of activity on each side.

As a concession to farmers, they would have been permitted to continue farming as long as they retained the land.

Sen. John L. Knappe, D-Petersburg, the committee chairman who conducted hearings through the state on the proposal, voted for the bill.

"As amended," he said, "rural people can live with the bill. Maybe we are standing in the path of history."

"We may not get as good a bill," he said of the future "because with reapportionment there will be more big city people determining its form."

Sen. Meade Baltz, R-Joliet, one of the first to cast his vote against the concept, said the measure was inconsistent in treatment of city and rural stretches of river.

Baltz and some other senators envisioned an invasion of private property rights.

"I would like to see the rivers preserved," Baltz said. "I am just fearful if the bill passes it would do violence to the right to our property and to control it. It preempts existing zoning. I would rather see counties keep their own zoning."
